Bearden Hired By South County Men In Murder Probe

Special Constable Denies He Ever Claimed to Act for Wallace Family

ARRESTED H. WYATT

Bearden Tells of Probe by Frank Turner and Himself

Jim Bearden, special deputy constable associated with Constable Frank Turner of Spring Hill township in a separate investigation of the Alfred Wallace murder case, denied Wednesday that he had ever claimed to be hired by relatives of the dead man in prosecuting his search for the murderer.

Mr. Bearden issued a statement replying to Sheriff John L. Wilson, who published a letter Tuesday from T. E. Wallace, brother of the dead man in which Mr. Wallace said he never had retained Mr. Bearden as special investigator.

Although Sheriff Wilson arrested Ed Washington, negro, and succeeded in having him bound over to the April grand jury without bail, at a hearing in Hope municipal court last week, Henry Wyatt, another negro arrested by Mr. Bearden and Constable Turner, is scheduled to be given a hearing in the same murder case before Justice Mike Foley at Spring Hill at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Bearden's Statement

Mr. Bearden's statement, defining his status in the case, follows:

"On Saturday, February 6, the day after Alfred Wallace was murdered, Frank Turner, constable of Spring Hill township, came to Hope and asked me to go down to the murder scene with him.

"I went with him, and before we got there we met Roy Butler and Ed Yecovich of Spring Hill township, coming after me. When I got to the scene a number of citizens were there. They were insisting that I go into the investigation.

"I told these citizens that I could not do it without an expense account. 'Walter Powell, Ed Collins and Buck Martin, of the vicinity where Wallace was killed, arranged an expense account for me, and paid my expenses. That was all I asked of them. It was understood by myself and these gentlemen that Frank Turner and I were to work together. Frank did not expect any expense account as he was constable of that township.

"The Wednesday following the murder we arrested Henry Wyatt on a suspicion, put him in jail at Lewisville, Fayette county, because of there being other suspects in the county jail at Washington and the city jail at Hope at that time.

Two Negro Witnesses

"We found in our investigation that Eddie Washington was a material witness against Wyatt. We kept our information covered as best we could. Ellis Williams, a negro school teacher, was also a material witness against Wyatt.

"Wyatt's alibi, given by his father to Deputy Prosecuting Attorney John Vosey in Mr. Vosey's office, was that Henry Wyatt was working with him (his father) tearing down an old house near the scene of the killing, and was not in the woods and did not leave the building until after the murder was discovered.

"I carried James Wyatt, Wyatt's father, to Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Vosey in order that the latter might know Wyatt's alibi.

"Eddie Washington was arrested some 12 or 15 days later, after James Wyatt had found out what Eddie Washington's statement was and that Ellis Williams, the negro school teacher, would testify that he saw Henry Wyatt go into the woods back of the Wallace field.

"I haven't said at any time that I was employed by the Wallace family or the state. I do not know where that rumor came from."

Diet of Children Is Cooking School Topic

One of Most Improved Problems of Household, Thinks Mrs. Kate Stafford, Who Will Conduct Star's Fourth Annual Free Cooking School at Saenger Next Week

About the most important problem the average woman has to consider in her household is children. The "problem" begins early in the morning when little folks must be dressed, fed and sent off to school, and ends only when the last sleepy head has been tucked in bed at night.

That is the reason Mrs. Kate Stafford, culinary authority who is to lecture before Hope women at The Star's fourth annual free cooking school next week at the Saenger theater, devoted much of her time to the study of child nutrition during her intensive home economics training.

Under scientific guidance she studied child physiology and psychology, the development of young bones and muscles, and the necessary nourishing foods.

Food for the hungry child, both at meal time and "in between," constitutes a problem which generally perplexes mothers, Mrs. Stafford says. The child must be satisfied, and at the same time be given those foods which are nourishing and fattening. Vegetables, fruit, milk, bread and butter—these are popularly chosen by mothers as the most satisfying foods for their children, she says.

But there is the child who will not eat carrots and spinach; the picky youngster who cannot drink milk; the listless one who never enjoys a meal—yet all must be fed.

Mrs. Stafford will endeavor to interest mothers in her audience in late scientific theories of child nutrition and her own original ideas on proper recreation for children, and the necessity for an understanding of such on the part of the mother.

Stephens, Routon and Anderson to Handle U. S. Loans

Secretary W. H. Pigg Calls Conference for 10 A. M. Thursday

BLANKS IN TRANSIT

Forms for Crop Loans Expected to Arrive Here This Week

Organization of the three-man Hempstead county committee, which will again handle the spring crop loans for the federal government, was announced Wednesday by the Memphis Crop Production Loan Office in a telegram to this paper.

H. M. Stephens, of Blevins, is chairman; and the other two committee members are Roy Anderson and Ralph Rounton, both of Hope.

Mr. Stephens was also chairman of the county committee last year. Mr. Rounton was originally a member of the 1931 county committee, but resigned, continuing to serve, however, as a member of his township committee.

The paid secretary for the committee is W. Homer Pigg, retained by County Judge L. F. Higginson in lieu of a county farm agent, there being none in Hempstead.

Mr. Pigg announced Wednesday, after notice of the committee appointments, that Mr. Stephens, Mr. Anderson and Mr. Rounton had been asked to meet in his office on East Second street opposite the postoffice at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Government loan blanks have not yet arrived, Mr. Pigg said Wednesday afternoon, but are expected any moment. The county committee will be organized Thursday morning and will proceed with the appointing township committees to handle the 1932 loans, much as the government loans were handled last year.

Grand Jury Probe of Rioting Sought

Foster May Be Charged With Criminal Syndicalism, Says Prosecutor

DETROIT, (AP)—Asserting there was "evidence of criminal syndicalism" in Monday's fatal rioting at the Ford Motor Company's plant on River Rouge, Prosecutor Harry S. Toy Tuesday night sought an immediate grand jury investigation into the clash between police and demonstrators in which four persons were killed and more than 60 injured.

The prosecutor said he had evidence showing several persons, "some of whose names are unknown, openly incited the group toward a riot," and announced he would confer with officials of the grand jury Wednesday morning.

A search was being made Tuesday night for William Z. Foster, national head of the Communist party in the United States and four leaders of local Communist groups whom the police accuse of fomenting the riot.

Prosecutor Toy said his investigations have failed to show the affair was "a hunger march or an unemployment march."

More than 30 participants in the clash were held for investigation.

Besides the four dead there are 28 injured in hospitals, seven of whom are officers who attempted to quell the riot. Harry Bennett, head of the Ford special police, is suffering from head injuries inflicted by the mob which surrounded his automobile at the gates to the factory.

Kidnapers Had No Auto Near Estate

Schoeffel Statement Gives Authentic History of Lindbergh Abduction

NEW YORK—The only official statement of the circumstances surrounding the kidnaping of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was issued by Major Charles Schoeffel, deputy superintendent of the New Jersey state police, from the Lindbergh home shortly before dawn on March 2. Because of the hour at which it was given out it failed to receive much attention at the time. In view of the many conflicting reports which have since gained circulation the statement is printed herewith. It reads as follows:

"The baby was discovered missing at 10 o'clock. He was put to bed at 8 o'clock by his nurse, Betty Gow. At 8:30 Miss Gow returned to look at the baby and he was safe. She did not return until 10 o'clock and the baby

Mercury Drops to 12 For Nashville; Hope Has 14

The Final Blast of Winter Proves Severe for the Entire Season

15 DEGREES IN N.

Entire Nation Seized by Unprecedented Cold Snap in March

The mercury plunged to 12 degrees in Nashville and 14.34 in Hope Wednesday morning, inflicting heavy damage on the peach and strawberry crops.

It was the coldest weather this winter, following snow Monday and Tuesday.

At Nashville Charles Ferguson, editor of the Nashville News, told the paper Wednesday night that only a stiff wind kept the peach crop from being a total loss. The severe cold may have killed half or more of the 1932 yield, but Mr. Ferguson said orchard men would not know definitely until the buds had thawed out.

The peach trees were in all stages of development, from what is known as "full bloom" to mere buds. Orchard men believe the peaches on trees in full bloom are a complete loss, but many of the late budding variety may have come through.

Nashville Also Hit

Fear was also expressed for the early radish crop around Nashville. The first radish was to have been loaded from that point this week for express shipments were already on the way. Later radishes, still in the soil, were believed to be in danger of being killed by the cold snap.

Tomatoes and other truck crops in the hotbed stage were saved from smudges which were kept going through Tuesday night.

George W. Ware, in charge of the Fruit & Truck Experiment Station who gave the official reading of 14.34 degrees for Hope, said it would be a day or two before truck men could tell the extent of their loss.

Coldest Since 1923

LITTLE ROCK, (AP)—The cold wave reached its peak here Wednesday when the thermometer registered 15 degrees—one degree above the all-time low record for March, 14 degrees which was set March 19, 1923.

Fort Smith had a low of 12, also reported at Calles Rock. The mercury hit 14 at Memphis.

NEW YORK (AP)—New York

awoke Wednesday to find the coldest day of winter, with a thermometer reading of 15 degrees above, the all-time low mark, 17 degrees, was set on February 16.

Five Boats Missing In Atlantic Storm

Many Motorists Marooned by Snow; Train Stalled in Drift

NEW YORK, (AP)—Belated winter Tuesday endangered a dozen vessels in the Atlantic and the Great Lakes and stalled buses, motorcars and a train, while scores of passengers sought shelter.

The steamer Norwalk, the barge Deepwater, two fishing schooners and a coal barge were unaccounted for Sunday. The schooners and coal barge carried 15 men, the other two vessels an undetermined number.

The H. F. de Bardenheer, its rudder broken but its engine operating, was resisting destruction. The liner Aurora, passenger laden, and the tanker Beacon and Hagood stood by, ready to pick up the crew of more than 30 men should they launch a boat or be tossed overboard, if the vessel foundered.

The fishing schooner Waltham was believed a total loss after being grounded on Block Island. Shal fishing in North Carolina was paralyzed, almost every fisherman's net having been swept away with a loss in equipment of $250,000 and a similar estimated loss in uncaught fish.

The Pore Marquette passenger steamer Virginia was in distress for a few hours a few miles off Ludington, Mich., its rudder broken. The vessel with its crew of 32, finally entered the Ludington port.

Airplane travel was resumed, the United Airlines taking advantage of calmer skies to send a 50-pound pack of food to Morris Williams, keeper of a light beacon, in Ring mountain in the Alleghenies, where he was marooned without supplies by heavy snow.

Drifts of five to six feet were reported in upper New York state and as deep as 10 feet in the hilly country.

Lindbergh Baby's Return Is Denied

Report That Child Is Returned to Home Sunday Is Declared False

HOPEWELL, N. J.—(AP)—Police at the Lindbergh home stated flatly Wednesday that the kidnapped baby was not either in the Lindbergh home or the Morrow home and said that they knew nothing of a report emanating from Boston that the child had been returned.

As soon as it was reported from Boston that Mayor Curley had what he considered reliable information concerning the baby's return, and the following question was framed and sent to police headquarters at the Lindbergh home, "Mayor Curley of Boston has announced that he has received reliable information from an authoritative source that the baby had been returned Sunday night and that the police had cleared from the Lindbergh home to give the kidnappers 12 hours in which to make their getaway."

"Has the baby been returned? Is Mayor Curley correct in any respect?" Police conferred for more than an hour on this and other questions submitted at the same time and then replied to the question about the return, "We know nothing of this."

Earlier in the day a rumor that something would happen at the Morrow home caused a flurry of excitement in Englewood, but early Wednesday afternoon nothing had materialized.

THE MEANING OF MAN TO JESUS

Text John 9:1

God's supreme gift for the human race is Jesus Christ. Jesus is man's redeemer and he has made possible the forgiveness of personal sins and personal salvation. The supreme test of Christians is to give Jesus Christ to their fellow men who have him not.

Jesus' interest is centered in humanity. He centered his efforts on human welfare and man's spiritual destiny.
To this purpose he discounted no part of the human body or its functions, for it is through the body that the human soul finds its means of expression. To Jesus, human life had a value supreme to anything else on earth.

In thinking of the meaning of man to Jesus it is well to consider some points from which he viewed the race.

1—Jesus viewed men of divine origin. He believed in a divine creator-ship of all things. He had the highest regard for all things and placed values at the point where a thing made,
or might make a contribution to life.
Much discussion of the present day revolves around the question of origin.
Lowly origin had no place in the thinking of Jesus. Jesus spoke to the future and disclosed what men are and can become. The labyrinth through which men have come by physical, mental and spiritual development cannot rightfully be used to discount the idea of the divine origin and spiritual realities of men whatever the processes of development were or may be.
All our accomplishments are of lowly origin, materially and religiously perhaps. Recognition must be according to the accomplishments or the possibilities of development reckoned on what a thing is and what it may become. Not so much from whence came we, but why are we here and whither are we traveling are the points of greater importance.

2—Jesus dealt with men as free spirits. This is very evident in his dealings with the blind man and like characters. He took the blind man as he found him and gave him power to see and to comprehend things beyond his fondest dreams. It was all due to the personal freedom of the blind man to choose to follow the commands of Jesus, and his faith on which he acted. The intrinsic value of a man is in what he is, in his potentialities. Here on huge personality and the power to become. The power to choose and to do as he will affords the power to rise from slime pits and to follow the onward advancing melody of life. Free spirit samps the human soul with divine likeness. It is the most human endowment and yet it is the most perilous gift. By it men may be praise God or curse
God and die.

3—To Jesus man was a religious being. Jesus saw that man had power to find God and to lay hold on God.
At this point he made the closest contact with men and spoke in the most friendly and compassionate terms. As men believed in and worshipped God, though blindly, he revealed to them the real nature of God. He challenged men to follow him, assuring them of knowing God and coming to the richness of divine experience and finding rest to their tasting souls.

4—Though human attainments Jesus saw a channel of divine glory. The light of God shining in the hearts of his saints and reflected by them to the world would honor and glorify the Father in Heaven. The name of Jesus is glorified through the work of faith in his believers, they in him and he in them, according to the grace of God and the Lord Jesus Christ.

5—Humanity was interpreted by Jesus as an eternal existence. Around this fact evolved his doctrine of life eternal, and heaven and hell. It was here that he gave death and life their real meaning. Death in its true sense was separation from God, and in its final analysis eternal perdition. Life in its spiritual significance was follow-

Politicians Are Active in Columbia County

MAGNOLIA—Names of Columbia

candidates for chancery judge. Smith is a former state senator and Stevens is now serving as chancellor. Watt Jordan of Camden also will be in the race for judge.

Harry Baker and J. P. Machen are in the race for sheriff and this week
John C. Sanders and W. H. Dismukes

dates for sheriffs. W. R. Walker and C. O. Taylor will enter the race for county clerk.

ship with God's experience with him
and finally eternal inheritance with God.

To Jesus the meaning of man continues the same throughout the ages.
Today he speaks to us with the same means and revelation as when he was in the flesh. In the light of His gospel is found the true meaning of human worth, the revelation of God's love, spiritual possibilities and life eternal. Truly, Jesus has brought immortality to life.

Holland, reached Buffalo.

Twenty persons, including women and children, spent the night aboard
a Lehigh Valley passenger train stalled
in a huge snow drift near Geneva, N. Y. Farmers brought them food and aided the train crew and men passengers in a futile effort to dig through the snow which nearly covered the locomotive. The passengers were taken by a relief train to Geneva.

Reports were general of suffering from exposure by hundreds of motorists who spent hours in stalled automobiles or in poorly heated filling stations while they waited for the storm to subside.

New Games Law of State Printed

Opinions of the Supreme Court Given—Mailed to Circuit Clerks

ITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(P)—A folder containing the state game laws has been mailed by the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission.

The abstract is based on opinions of the supreme court and attorney general holding several hunting and fishing laws unconstitutional on the ground they were local or special.

The folder is being distributed to circuit clerks, who issue hunting and fishing licenses.

Under the general statute enacted in 1927, the statewide squirrel hunting season is from May 15 to June 15, and the deer season from October 1 to January 1.

Artificial bait is prohibited from May 15 to May 15, as is fishing by any method within 100 yards below dam or other obstruction.

Artificial bait having more than three hooks is prohibited. A license is required for artificial bait fishing.

Constipation locks up poisons in the body, and allows them to begin dangerous work against your health. Keep the bowels active. If constipated, one of the best things to do is to take Theodor's Black-Draught for prompt relief.

I find it is fine for sour stomach and gas. A few doses, taken for several nights, makes me feel like a new person. I have found it very good and dependable."

ALAMO, Cal.—(P)—What, William B. Kent, 35, is a matter of 35 years to a good football player?

Kent was a member of the Georgia eleven of 1896, captain of the Bulldogs in '97 and in '98 lobbied against a bill passed by the legislature prohibiting football in Georgia.

He helped get the governor to veto the bill, he said, which was passed after a player had been killed during a game.

"I am in fine shape now and can play a real good game right now," Kent declared. "I weigh 214 pounds and can run 100 yards about as quick as any man in town."

Kent says he still loves the game and his son is on his way to becoming a "better football player" than his dad.

Plan to 'Freeze' Prices Opposed

Hoover Commission on War Policy Urges Amending Constitution

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Recommendations of the War Policies Commission for taking the profit out of war were submitted to Congress by President Hoover Monday and at once ran into opposition.

The commission recommended that in a future war all prices should be "frozen" at the outset of hostilities and as a further check on profiteering that a 90 per cent tax on excess profits be levied. A constitutional amendment to make the price freezing plan legal was recommended.

A resolution proposing such an amendment was introduced in the Senate on behalf of the four Senate members of the commission, Reed of Pennsylvania and Vandenberg of Michigan, Republicans; Robinson of Arkansas and Swanson of Virginia, Democrats.

The senators also introduced a resolution asking Secretary Mills to develop the best method to apply the proposed 95 per cent tax.

Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, compared the efforts of the commission with "the mountain that labored and brought forth a mouse." He said all the commission recommended could be accomplished without a constitutional amendment and criticized the report as proposing to "equalize" instead of "eliminate" the profits of war.

Senators King, Democrat, Utah, and Robinson, Republican, Indiana, also criticized the report, saying that no legislation was needed to carry out its recommendations.

Vandenberg, defending the report, said the "popular notion" of drafting labor and capital had been found by the commission to be an "impractical impossibility." He said a majority of the committee agreed that no constitutional amendment was necessary but recommended it as a precaution.

LIMA, Peru.—(P)—President Luis M. Sanchez Cerro was shot and wounded slightly Sunday at a church in the summer resort of Miraflores, near here, by an assailant who shot two other persons, including a bystander, before he was wounded and captured.

The assailant was identified as Jose Melgar Marquez, a member of the Aprista (opposition) political party.

Col. Antonio Rodriguez, chief of the presidential staff, was wounded seriously when he stepped between the president and his attacker. The bystander injured was a woman member of the congregation. There were unconfirmed reports that another woman, a child and a servant also were wounded.

Bankhead Ouster Report Approved

Senate Subcommittee Recommends That Alabama Seat Be Vacated

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The contest against election of Senator John H. Bankhead, Alabama Democrat, culminated Friday in a recommendation from a Senate Elections Subcommittee that his seat be vacated.

Voting along party lines, the Senate Subcommittee adopted a report drafted by Chairman Hastings, Republican, Delaware, that widespread violation of election laws made the election fraudulent, and the Bankhead's nomination invalid because of an illegal primary. Democratic members of the committee will submit a minority report to the full committee along with the majority report next week.

The subcommittee's action completed a year's investigation of the contest brought against Bankhead's election by his predecessor, J. Thomas Heflin.

Heflin ran against Bankhead as a "Jeffersonian Democrat" and was defeated by about 50,000 votes. He had been barred from the Democratic primary because of his opposition in 1928 to the Democratic presidential candidate, Al Smith. Adoption of the committee's report by the Senate would not seat Heflin, but would leave the seat vacant to be filled by appointment.

The subcommittee's report must be acted upon by the full committee before reaching the Senate floor, but it assured a bitter inter-party conflict there.

Assertion Kidnaping Caused by Prohi Flayed

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A published assertion by Rear Admiral William A. Moffett attributing the Lindbergh kidnaping to prohibition brought a protest Saturday from Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, of the National Women's Democratic Law Enforcement League.

The officer had said gangsters, through prohibition, have established organizations with such extensive resources that they could carry out even so vicious a thing as this kidnaping.

Mrs. Nicholson wrote to him in a part: "I am addressing you this open letter and sending a copy of it to your commander-in-chief, the president of the United States, who is committed to prohibition and the eighteenth amendment.

"The taxpayers and law abiding citizens do not approve of such outbursts from our government officials, and I take the liberty of reminding you that your oath of office gives you no right to condemn any part of the constitution which you swore to uphold. And let me say that many an enlisted man has been court-martialed for a much lesser offense than an admiral is guilty of."

Son of Big League Ump Shines on Trojan Nine

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Al Hildebrand is stirring up considerable comment this year as third baseman on the University of Southern California baseball team.

Of course whatever Al does in a baseball way is bound to stir comment because he is the son of George Hildebrand, American league umpire. At a sophomore, young Hildebrand hit 330 with the Trojan nine last spring and is starting out as well this season. He throws right-handed, and bats left.

His father has an outfielder first with the San Francisco Seals and later with Brooklyn before he started calling balls and strikes in a large way. He has 19 years of umpiring behind him.

Field Mice Found to Run 20 Miles in One Night

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—Rotors, similar to squirrel cages, to which meters are attached, have shown at the University of Michigan museums here that an active field mouse will run 100,000 feet, or about 20 miles, in a night.

Dr. Lee R. Dieg, curator, has assembled 3,000 deer mice, ordinarily known as field mice, to study inheritance of racial features.

What's in a Name?

FORT WORTH, Tex.—Maybe names do not mean anything to burglars. They paid a visit to H. C. Rhoton recently and stole 75 bushels of sweet potatoes from a truck parked in the rear of the public market. They were the Honest John variety. Rhoton reports.

THE GOLDEN FLEECE

Now that, lads, is just a common sample. Taken at random from my friend's gold mine! He isn't letting everyone in on this deal, but told me he'd take a few of my pals in partnership with him for only $300. That, lads, is truly a golden opportunity!

I've seen gold ore—but this just looks like a chunk of concrete with some of the gold fillings out your friend's teeth stuck in it!

Yes, but I can see the ball tip of his gold-washed collar button sticking outa that muck of mortar! I s'pose his bigger samples of ore have gold watch cases in 'em!

For a Rainy Day

FORT WORTH, Texas.—It was a rainy morning when J. M. Powell pil-laged out of bed and took his umbrella for a trip to the corner store. The grocer hadn't yet arrived, and Powell stood in the doorway waiting for him.
A car drove up to the curb. Sensing
he was to be the victim of a holdup, Powell slipped $15 out of his pocket and put it in his closed umbrella. The robbers searched him and found but 35 cents. In disgust they returned the change to him and drove off.

Bennett and Johnson answered a highway call to aid a truck driver round up four bulls that had broken loose after the truck had overturned. The bulls chased the two officers all over the lot and finally up a telephone pole. Motor Patrolman Fred Titus finally arrived to rescue his brother officers.

Moore, returns to Blevins, his home,
each night.

On this truck a complete line of

are carried.

Merchandise from the truck is sold outright or exchanged for poultry and eggs. Thus affording farmers a market at their door for their surplus poultry and eggs.

far has been better than he anticipat-

Radish Growers
Fear Crop Is LostFirst Shipment Damaged
Badly by Frost—Late
Crop Not Hurt

All of the early radishes in the Blevins section are reported killed by the heavy frost Tuesday night. Tuesday afternoon growers of the section were hopeful of saving a part of the crop
but the heavy frost and cold wind of Wednesday morning blighted all hopes according to a statement from several of the leading growers Wednesday noon.

Growers of the section were all ready to begin shipment in car load lots Monday morning. Some had garthered on Saturday and held them over to go in the first car.

It has not been ascertained how much the young radishes have suffered by the freeze. It will be several weeks however before any radishes
will be shipped from this section.
